I am this moment favored with your letter, and would have sent it with Pearsall to the President of the General Court Martial, but do not think it can be of any service, pro or con. However, you have done your duty in sending him, and I shall acquaint General Vaughan with it to-morrow. I have again sent them back, and will acquaint you with the Generals answer. Be so good as to deliver the enclosed letter. General Orders, January 2, 1779. The Commanding Officer of the Queens County Militia is to establish such guards along the Sound as he may think sufficient both to prevent the Rebels from landing and to receive such as may make their escape from them. They are to be very alert, and in case of a descent are to give the alarm to the first established post. Signed, J. Vaughan, Major General. Jan. 19, 1779. Major Kissam is to see this order complied with, his way, and to consult with Captain Brown, of His Majestys sloop Scorpion, about the proper places for guards. A. H. , and c. Colonel Hamilton to Major Kissam. Jan. 17, 1779. I am desired by General Tryon to give orders that the militia guards for the future (your way) shall consist of hired men, who are to be paid by a tax from the companies who otherwise would have mounted in their turn. You will likewise be so good...
