Excerpt: . chapter iii. reasons for believing in universal reconciliation. Having answered, as I hope to the reader s satisfaction, some of the most important objections against God s universal goodness to his creatures, I shall now turn on the other hand, and give the reader some of my evidences for believing in the so-much-despised doctrine of universal holiness and happiness. First, I reason from the nature of divine goodness, in which all pretend to believe, and none dare in a direct sense encesfrom to deny, that God could not, consistently God s inflwith himself, create a being that would ss.2003 experience more misery than happiness. Secondly, if God be infinitely good, his goodness is commensurate with his power and knowledge; then all beings whom his power produced are the objects of his goodness; and to prove that any being was destitute of it would...
